News Review Legal Fund Drive Continues; Volunteers Sought

The half-way mark in the house-to-house drive for funds to support the Greenbelt News Review was reached this week, as more than 75 collectors were making their rounds. The drive is being conducted by the Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee to raise money to help meet the legal expenses incurred by the paper in connection with a $2,000,000 libel suit filed against it by local developer Charles S. Bresler.

The case is scheduled for trial in early October.

Chares Schwan, co-chairman of the Freedom of the Press Committee, announced that practically all the courts in the core of Greenbelt now have volunteer collectors. The Committee in the next few weeks will concentrate on the apartments and is now recruiting teams of workers to cover the apartments on designated days.

Persons wishing to volunteer their services are asked to call Katherine Gough (474-1529) or Helen Geller (474-6323).

Schwan urged persons who were not at home when their collectors came around to bring or mail their contributions to the Twin Pines Savings and Loan Association, 105 Centerway. The Committee has an account with the Association. Checks can be made out to Greenbelt Freedom of the Press Committee.

Contribution Certificates are being issued in denominations of $2, $5, and $10 to persons who make donations.

Fair Housing Meeting

Prince Georges County Fair Housing, Inc. will hold its annual Board election and public meet-

5 New County Zoning Categories Considered

The Board of County Commissioners is currently considering five new zoning categories for addition to the Zoning Ordinance for the Maryland-Washington Regional District in Prince Georges County.

The Commissioners and the members of the Prince Georges County Planning Board will hold a joint meeting on June 27 at 2 p.m., in the County Court House in Upper Marlboro, to receive comments and suggestions on the current proposals.

The joint Commission-Planning Board meeting will be open to the public.

The proposed zones under consideration are the Town Sector Zone, Planned Neighborhood Zone, Residential Cluster Zone, I-3 Zone (Planned Industrial Park), and the R-A Zone (Residential-Agricultural — for 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 acre lots).

All of these proposed zones have been the subject of previous public hearings before the County Commissioners (sitting as the District Council) and have now been prepared as revised drafts. Copies of these drafts may be obtained at the Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission's Regional Office, 6600 Kenilworth ave., Riverdale, or by calling the zoning information office at 277-2200.

The County Commissioners are seeking written comments and suggestions on the five current proposals and "would appreciate receiving advance copies of written comments, prior to June 23."

Written comments should be addressed to W. C. Dutton, Jr., Chairman of the Park and Planning Commission.

ing on June 28. Site of the event will be the University Park Church of the Brethren. President and Vice President of the non-profit organization are Greenbelters Norman Kilpatrick and Bruce Bowman.

New County Anti-loitering Ordinance For Youths Goes into Effect July 1

Police Chief William Lane will be meeting this week with county officials to discuss the anti-loitering ordinance passed unanimously by the Prince Georges County Commissioners on June 13.

Effective July 1, the ordinance prohibits "loitering" in public places by youths under 18 between the hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m., but does not penalize youngsters on legitimate business or with their parents.

Under the procedures adopted, police officers may question any youth found on the streets or in places of business during the prescribed hours and require the name and address of the teen-ager. When found "loitering," the youngster could be directed to return home. The police officer will keep a record of the "contact."

A second such "contact" could bring action against the parents, who could be found liable and sentenced by the Courts for up to 10 days or $500. Business firms found permitting "loitering" could also be penalized.

"Anti-loitering" is defined as "to idle, stand around, tarry, or wander on foot, as well as to park, idle, wander, tarry or play in or on a motor vehicle; unless engaged in a lawful business, educational, recreational or religious activity."

A "Public Place" is defined in the ordinance as "any place to which the public is invited in, on, or around any privately owned place of business, any private institution, or any place of amusement or entertainment whether or not a charge for admission or entry thereto is made."

County officials said that the new ordinance was designed to limit the activities of the small minority of youngsters who have become troublesome in certain areas - not to penalize the 95% who do not get in trouble with the law. They stressed that the law should be used with discretion by police officers.

As far as implementation of the anti-loitering law in Greenbelt is concerned, Lane said that the matter needed a thorough study. Basically he felt the law is an important one because it gives law enforcement authorities a tool to control juveniles that are constantly out at night and forces the cooperation of parents. Presently police officers in Greenbelt do report to the parents when juveniles are discovered out late at night and hope that the parents will cooperate. Lane pointed out, however, that most of Greenbelt's loitering offenders are in the 18 and over age bracket.

Requirements to Vote, Run In City Election on Sept. 19

Election day for the Greenbelt City Council is just three months away, on September 19, to be exact. All citizens should be aware of the requirements to make them eligible to vote or run for office. Do you know, for example, whether you are qualified to vote, or how to nominate the candidate of your choice, or when and where to register?

Here are the regulations for citizen participation in Greenbelt City elections.

Anyone who is eligible to vote in Greenbelt City elections is eligible to run for one of the five seats on the city Council. ELECTION DAY is September 19, 1967; the term of office is two years.

Late Bulletin

In a letter to Mayor Edgar L. Smith, councilman David Champion resigned "due to personal reasons." His resignation will take effect immediately.

The Council met in a special meeting Wednesday night to consider the resignation and indicated that it will accept the resignation at Monday night's council meeting. Council will make an interim appointment to fill the vacancy in accordance with the terms of the city charter, which requires that vacancies be filled as soon as possible.

County Budget Up 27%

The Prince Georges County Commissioners adopted a record $141.2 million budget for fiscal year 1967-68 last week which will retain the county real estate tax at its present rate of $2.90 per $100 assessed valuation. However, special taxes paid by most county residents were increased by four cents to a total of 17 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

The budget, up $29.7 million or 27 percent over current spending, will be balanced by increased revenues from sources other than the property tax. One source is an extra $16.3 million in State aid, which the county will receive under the fiscal reform program adopted by the 1967 Maryland General Assembly.

The county will also impose a local income tax, required of all counties under the new Maryland tax law, of 20 percent above the graduated state levy, bringing the total scale to a range of 2.4 to 6 percent.

The property tax means that the owner of a $20,000 house assessed at 50 percent of fair market value would pay $290 in county real estate taxes next year — the same as in the current fiscal year. Additionally, the head of a family of four with a gross income of $10,000 would pay $306 in combined State and local income taxes. This would be $117 more than he paid in 1966-67 under the present flat 3 percent income tax.

About 64 per cent of the new budget will operate the county's school system next year. Most of the $17.9 million increase is needed to serve the additional 11,813 pupils who will be enrolling in county schools in September. Also provided are funds for conversion to a free public kindergarten program in place of the present half free, half tuition system.

The new budget provides a 7 percent across-the-board pay raise for county employees. The budget was also increased by $356,000 to allow for the increased costs expected to arise from the U. S. Supreme Court's recent Gault decision, which held that juveniles are entitled to many of the same constitutional rights accorded adult criminal defendants.

Registration

REGISTRATION DAY for voters is ANY DAY, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.—just go to the city offices and sign up with the city clerk. If you work during the day and can't register then, wait until special registration days are announced later in the summer. During special registration days the city clerk will sign you up during the evening.

Once you have registered for Greenbelt elections, you need not register again as long as you live here continuously, provided you have voted in at least one of the two previous city elections. If you've never registered here or if you moved out of town and then moved back or if you missed voting in two elections, it will be necessary to register again under the same provisions for eligibility.

Eligibility

To be eligible to vote in Greenbelt council elections you must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, must have lived in Greenbelt at least six months immediately preceding the election. Employees of the U.S. government, residing in Greenbelt, are eligible to vote in the city election and run for city council posts.

If you — or your candidate — are eligible to vote, here's what must be done to get a place on the ballot for City Councilman:

1-Get at least 3% and not more than 5% of the qualified registered voters to sign a nomination petition form or get some from the city clerk; she also has an information form that will be helpful. You may use one sheet of paper or several. There are presently about 1754 registered voters. Current registrations lists will be available in a few weeks.

2-Submit the signed petition to her (together with a $3 filing fee) not earlier than July 21 and not later than August 21 at 5 p.m. Only registered voter's signatures are valid, and a voter may sign only ONE nomination petition even though he may vote for five candidates. Therefore, the city clerk will disqualify a voter's signature on the second and all subsequent petitions she receives on which it appears.

This means a voter should think twice before signing a nomination petition for someone he isn't really eager to back; it would make him unable to nominate anyone else. This also means that the candidate (or the backers of a candidate) who file their petitions early in the July 21 - August 21 period will have more time in which to get additional signatures to validate the petition.

Married women signers of petitions should use the form Mary Doe, not Mrs. John Doe. The records show them as Mary Doe and if the city clerk doesn't recognize the name in its married form, she may not be able to check and accept it.

3-Within 7 days of filing of a valid petition, the city clerk notifies the candidate. The latter then has 7 days within which to accept the nomination. (In some cases petitions are circulated without the candidates say-so.) The ballot carries only persons nominated this way. But you can write in names when you vote.

That's all there is to it. On September 19 there will be an election. If five candidates fail to win at least 40 percent of the votes cast (assuming that a charter change now being proposed will be adopted), there will be a run-off election 7 days later. In the run-off election the ballot will consist of those unsuccessful candidates receiving the highest number of votes, up to twice as many names as there are positions to be filled.

The Proposed Office Plaza

The proposed 20-acre commercial office building plaza west of Kenilworth Ave. and north of the Capital Beltway shows, in its outline, good planning with consideration for its impact on the adjacent area. But seriously detracting from this favorable impression is the prospect of a gas station at the site north of the State highway office building.

There are numerous gas stations already situated along Greenbelt Road near Kenilworth. The need for these to proliferate onto Kenilworth is not evident, certainly not from an esthetic sense.

The C-2 (general commercial) zoning, which is being requested for the 6-acre tract (on which the gas station and a motel would be built) gives us further pause. No matter how well intentioned the present developers are, we have learned by sad experience how little control the community has over areas which may pass from one owner to another. We know also how freely the "change in character" of one tract is used to justify rezoning of adjacent areas.

The commercial office buildings appear to be a reasonable alternative to the present R-18 (multiple-family apartment) zoning. The necessary C-O zoning clearly defines what may or may not be built. On the other hand, the C-2 general commercial zoning, even on the smaller tract, opens up a Pandora's box of undesirable possibilities.

Let us at this time examine closely each and every part of the proposed package, and reject those items that could detract from our community. It might even be preferable to await the adoption of the Greenbelt Master Plan by county authorities, since sound decisions on the commercial plaza may well depend on what the prospects are for other undeveloped land in the city.

Police Blotter

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of an Alexandria man on charges of forgery and larceny. Security men at S. Klein's department store tried to apprehend him on May 25 after he had attempted to purchase a record player with a stolen credit card, but he escaped. The police later learned that merchandise totaling $187 in value had been charged with this card in recent weeks. The suspect is said to be acquainted with a relative of the original cardholder (now deceased).

A coin collection valued at $175 was stolen on June 5 from a Lakeside North apartment, where it had been kept in a glass-fronted display case. No sign of forced entry was found, and the police believe that a plastic playing card was used to slip the catch.

Police Chief William Lane reminds residents that installing better locks, when the existing locks are inadequate, reduces the danger of theft. He adds that even if a thief does attempt to force a sturdy lock, the noise will often attract attention, whereas the playing-card method of forced entry is noiseless.

A canoe was stolen from a Springhill Lake boat park on May 21, but it was returned to its owner after the police apprehended two boys, one of whom had dropped his wallet and comb at the scene of the crime. The boys, ages 13 and 14, had hidden the canoe in the woods. Neither of them had ever been in trouble before. According to Chief Lane, they wanted to go boating.

WOODLAND HILLS

Woodway Community Development held its annual Pot Luck Supper May 23 at St. Hugh's Social Hall. Following a brief welcoming address by President Jack Maffay, and invocation by Charles McDonald, twenty four Woodland Hills families enjoyed a variety of delectable dishes.

City Manager James K. Giese was the main speaker at the membership meeting which followed the dinner. The topic under discussion was the perimeter road problem, created by the three school complex.

Jim Cassels, one of the original Woodway residents, gave an interesting report for the benefit of new members, explaining how Woodland Hills was planned and built ten years ago. During the latter part of the meeting, the membership elected the following officers to serve in the coming year: President, Harvey Geller; Vice President, George Jones; Secretary, Sid Kastner; Treasurer, Leonie Penney, and to the Board of Directors, Howard Kash.

At 3:30 p.m. fourth graders and up may see the film LITTLE GREY NECK and CRAYON. Mrs. Creo Baldwin, acting head, children's department, Hyattsville branch, is in charge.

July programs will be announced later. All library programs are free.

City Notes

Public Works Director Albert S. Attick reports that the new bandstand at the Lake Park should be ready for a musical performance well ahead of the Fourth of July. The deck work is already substantially complete, he said, and flooring will be laid this week. Four tall poles at the corners have also been installed to carry floodlights. Roofing for the structure will not be completed until later in the summer—in fact, the final design for the roof has not yet been chosen.

Also in preparation for the holiday, the city crew hopes to build a bridge across the small stream at the east end of the lake, making the north shore of the lake accessible to residents from the lower end of Lakeside Dr.

On Tuesday the city crew planted annual flowers in the beds at the Center—canna lilies, marigolds, ageratum, petunias and zinnias. They also watered down some of the newly laid sod at the Westway playground that was turning brown.

COMMUNITY CHURCH NEWS

On Sunday, June 25, the Greenbelt Community Church will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the United Church of Christ. In 1948 Greenbelt Community Church affiliated with the Congregation of Christian Churches (later to be known as the United Church of Christ) by vote of the congregation.

Today the United Church of Christ is composed of more than 6,900 local churches with a total membership of 2 million. It is one of the ten major denominations in the United States and is currently engaged in merger consultations with the Protestant Episcopal Church, and the United Presbyterian Church, the Methodist Church, Evangelical United Brethren and Disciples of Christ.

Ferd Cardano Honored At Flag Day Program

The Greenbelt Center Elementary School observed Flag Day on Wednesday, June 14, with an assembly program which included patriotic choral numbers, a marching drill by the sixth grade girls, a special presentation by a group of kindergarten children, and a recitation of an original poem about the American flag by Royce Buzzell. The musical program was under the direction of Mrs. Cooke.

Featured speaker was Dr. Thomas C. Kelly of Greenbelt, Administrative Assistant for the Board of County Commissioners. Dr. Kelly spoke of the interest which others in Prince Georges County have in our Heritage Hall and the school patriotic programs. He reminded the students of the need for studying our past heritage as a means of helping to build the future. He congratulated former principal Ferdinand Cardano for his vision in getting such a pioneer program started in Prince Georges County.

Cardano, who was the guest of honor, expressed his thanks to the PTA and the school for the illuminated awards and the trophy case which was installed in Heritage Hall as a token of appreciation for his service as school principal and founder of Heritage Hall. He stated that Heritage Hall and the patriotic programs were made possible only through the efforts of the Greenbelt Post of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and other civic organizations, and especially through the guidance of the Center School teachers and the hard work of the students. He hoped that he would be able to attend future Center School programs which remind the students of our American heritage.

In closing the program, Robert Ellis, current Center School principal, indicated that the program started by Cardano would be carried on because the teachers of Center School are able to stimulate the children's interest in our past and the students are willing to work diligently in making the different Heritage Hall displays and in rehearsing for the programs which are put on in the school

Expo '67

At nine o'clock (p.m., of course) Thursday, June 29, Don McCoy will show some of the many slides and movies he has taken of Expo 67. This will be of particular interest to those who were on the Greenbelt Travel Club trip and about which we have heard such enthusiastic reports. It will also afford an opportunity for a preview for those planning family trips later this summer and for those who may go on a later travel club trip. Pete Whittaker is trying now to make the travel and hotel arrangements for a trip in August. Watch the News-Review for the announcement.

Members' savings are increasing at a good rate, but loans are increasing even faster. We had to borrow $20,000 from Suburban Trust Company this month to meet the greater loan demand.

Because of this, the Board of Directors has again approved a Summer Bonus Plan - - the same as we had last summer. Beginning June 21st a 1/10th% bonus will be added to deposits of ten dollars and over. This will be paid on multiples of ten dollars and will amount to a 1 cent bonus for each ten dollars deposited. Because of state regulations, the maximum bonus is $2.50 per account.

CO-OP SUMMER INSTITUTE

For that "vacation with a purpose" why not consider attending the 38th Annual Co-op Summer Institute sponsored by the Cooperative Institute Association? The Institute this year is being held at Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pennsylvania, 25 miles northwest of Philadelphia and all facilities are air-conditioned.

The Institute is designed to promote the development of co-operatives by providing information, training, and inspiration for directors, committee members, employees, and others interested in co-operative growth and expansion. In addition to a variety of regular courses, this year's Institute will provide the opportunity for in-depth study of particular kinds of cooperatives and fields of cooperative endeavor.

Golden Age Club

by Allen D. Morrison

The County festival held at Northwestern High School on May 27 was a great success. Over 1,000 senior citizens attended.

Of all trips taken by Club members the recent one to Longwood Gardens was the most enjoyable. The gardens were magnificent, with many different types of plants displayed. The date was right, the temperature was perfect, and such a beautiful day combined with the scenery caused everyone to feel much younger.

Still we are growing. John H. Murphy, Laura M. Caldwell, Josephine Phillips, Frances E. Shepherd, Ruth S. Herbert, E. Jeanette Letiecq, and Jerry Goodin (a 26-year-employee in Greenbelt) recently joined the Club.

From July 10 through July 16 the largest carnival ever to be in Greenbelt will be held at the north parking lot in the center. Special discount tickets will be on sale at each entrance to the Co-op store beginning Saturday, July 1, and continuing until the quota is sold. Anna Kaplan with a corps of assistants is in charge of all ticket sales.

The Police Blotter

Dirty Pool. The police received a complaint on May 20 from a Greenbelt man who had become acquainted with three men over a pool table one evening and invited them to his home to play Skill Pool. The quartet arrived at 2 a.m., put a 6-pack of beer in the refrigerator, and took out the cues. Every so often, one of the guests would absent himself from the game on one pretext or another—a circumstance the host remembered later. The visitors left, after an hour, but apparently not alone; the police are now looking for a television set, an electric razor, two radios, and three pool players.

Low Income Housing In Montgomery County

According to a report in the Washington Post, plans are proceeding for a "demonstration community" in nearby Montgomery county which will include some housing for low and moderate income families under FHA section 221 (d)(3).

The community, to be developed by Martin Seelden, will comprise 155 acres along Interstate Rte. 70-S between Rockville and Gaithersburg. In the first stage, Seelden is aiming for 150 units of the type covered by 221 (d) (3), for which he is negotiating low-interest mortgages from FHA through Washington attorney Joel Wise. A rezoning permit by the County Council is required for the plan.

The community has been designed by the Silver Spring firm of Montgomery, Greene and associates, and is to contain a balanced mix of various types of development. As part of this project, it is also reported, the developer is seeking a group of employees from the nearby National Bureau of Standards to sponsor a cooperative high-rise apartment building.

GREENBELT WINS TRAFFIC AWARD

Greenbelt, Md. won a Special Citation for Casualty Record from the American Automobile Association for having gone 17 years without a pedestrian fatality. This award is based on an evaluation of the pedestrian death and injury rate in comparison with other cities in the same population bracket. Greenbelt had only one pedestrian injured in 1966 - a rate of eight per 100,000 population - compared with a rate of 59 per 100,000 population nationally.

Now— U. S. Savings Bonds Pay More Interest

4.15% when held to maturity

Higher interest on the Bonds you already own, too!

U.S. Savings Bonds are a better way to save than ever

Because now all Series E and Series H Bonds bought after December 1, 1965, will earn the new, higher interest rate of 4.15% when held to maturity. That's only 7 years for Series E—9 months quicker than before. All H Bond interest checks will be larger beginning in June 1966.

And your outstanding Bonds will earn more, too, from now on. So, you don't have to cash in your present Bonds to get the attractive new rate. Ask about buying Bonds where you work or bank. For America's future. And yours.

"Today, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines."

"Today, above all, is a time for all Americans to rededicate themselves to the spirit that animated the Minutemen of Concord—who serve as a symbol of the Savings Bond program. For today, as at the founding of our nation, it is freedom which is again at stake. Not all of us are called upon to fight in the jungles of Vietnam, but while our men are there, in the front lines of a distant land, none of us can remain aloof on the sidelines. We must all do our share—in every way we can—to support our men in Vietnam. One sure way is open to all Americans through the Savings Bond program."

June Fire Prevention Tip

by Joseph G. Wenrich,
Fire Marshal

Grass, Brush and Woods

One of the most serious problems during the summer months, at times when the Weather Index is at a critical stage from lack of rain to moisten the ground, is grass, brush and woods fires.

A carelessly tossed cigarette, burning trash, still burning camp fires, and sometimes children playing with matches, could start serious fires resulting in someone's being burned very badly, property loss, or both.

As in all cases, when your local Fire Company is called to respond to these alarms, a fireman may be seriously or critically injured in answering the call for help. Most responsible citizens would be distressed to think that such injury was brought about through their carelessness.

There are State and County laws set up regarding the use of Charcoal Burners. They must never be used on the balcony or porch of your apartment; on ground level, they must not be within 30 feet of any multiple dwelling; and it is not permissible to use them near the edge of a wooded area.

There are times when proof is at hand as to exactly how some of these fires are started and who is responsible. Laws cover liability in such cases; we hope we never have occasion to use them.

Your local Fire Department is asking cooperation from all residents in and around the Greenbelt area in preventing GRASS, BRUSH and WOOD FIRES during the summer months.

Greenbelt Grab-bag

Mrs. Merriweather Post
Washington, D. C.
Dear Mrs. Post,

I know there are many demands on your time, but I hope you will excuse this intrusion. I have been a great fan of yours for years and years. Some people read movie magazines, some people read detective mysteries, some like fantasy, but I am an avid reader of the society pages, and you are one of my heroines.

Some months ago, in the course of one of your charitable endeavors, you presented some beautiful tablecloths to an organization. Along with the linen, you presented instructions on care and maintenance. Now, here we come to the problem. You stated that fine table cloths should seldom be laundered, and that you have some that have not been washed for more than forty years.

Now, first of all, it is obvious from that statement that you have never had any of my family over for dinner. Don't think that my feelings are hurt, I quite understand. There are times that I would rather not feed them, but I don't get any choice. What they can do to a table cloth even a laundry can't always undo.

But getting the cloths dirty during meals isn't my real problem. I can't even be sure of having a clean cloth before we start eating. Here we are, the table is set with our best china and newly polished silver all ready for company, and somebody comes along and makes a peanut butter and jelly sandwich right on the Belgian linen.

I can't even be certain that the darned things will stay clean in the linen closet. The children find those shelves such a good place to store clay, paints, potting soil, and pet toads. I bet you never have frustrations like that.

And it isn't only the table cloths. Take the towels, for instance. One of the fringe benefits of living in Greenbelt is that the children can walk to the swimming pool. They do this sometimes three and four times a day. And every time they go, of course they take a clean towel.

Well, thanks for letting me tell you my troubles, but I don't suppose there is any advice you can give me. If you'd like to see for yourself, you're certainly welcome to come for dinner. We'll probably be using a plastic cloth. And don't worry about that noise coming from the kitchen. That will be the washer going. I'm always washing tablecloths and towels.

Cooperatively yours,
Punchin' Judy

J. C. C. Fabric Sale

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Legal technicalities caused the Federal Works Agency to be delinquent in remitting funds to the town for the upkeep of the new defense homes. As a consequence, the Town Council had been forced last January to borrow $10,000 for service and maintenance of these homes, of which 196 had been built and occupied by early June. Others were being built and soon would be rented. Until the legal tangle could be ironed out, the Town Council instructed Town Manager Roy S. Braden to refuse all services to future homes. Services included garbage collection, sewage disposal, street maintenance and lighting, fire and police protection, and the use of recreational facilities . . .

An ordinance forbade the wearing of shorts in the shopping center area and was enforced by the police department . . .

Because of the war and shortage of building materials, the Homeowners Co-op was refused a building loan by the Federal Housing Agency. The co-op had hoped to build about 50 single homes in what is now the Woodland Hills area; this lack of mortgage funds spelled the death of the group for the duration of the war and many years after . . .

Forty-eight pupils graduated from the elementary school, and fifty-eight from the high school . . .

When free swimming lessons were offered to all Greenbelt children, about 400 registered, overwhelming the facilities of the pool. Staggered classes had to be arranged . . .

Dr. William Eisner, the lone remaining physician of the Greenbelt Health Association, was appointed medical director. The board of directors of the association was making an active search for other doctors to assist the badly-overworked physician. Health Association doctors were salaried and treated all members of the organization . . .

Benjamin Goldfaden was appointed director of recreation for the town; he also taught physical education classes at the elementary school . . .

The local post office, on the basis of volume use of its facilities, was changed from third to second class status. The town was now large enough for home mail delivery; two a day were planned.
